

Lily Organics Attains USDA Trifecta

Lily Organics (Brighton, CO) is setting the bar for organic skin care companies and USDA Organic Certifications, with its announcement that it is the first skin care company to obtain all three USDA Certified Organic Farm, USDA Certified Organic Processor and Handler for the Laboratory, and USDA Certified Organic Skin Care Product certifications.

“Quality comes from long lasting results on your skin, certified organic ingredients, from the love and care of real people handcrafting each batch, freshness, the expertise in formulations, and the authenticity of the and company that make it,” said the company in a statement. “We have met and surpassed every criteria to solidly establish Lily Organics as the best skin care products in the world.”
