Mother Nature Gives Us the Gift of Perfect Skin

Even though we might not all be lucky enough to be born with perfect skin, Mother Nature provides us with the solution. With the holiday's right around the corner, there is no better time to rid your skin of unwanted blemishes and imperfections. Better yet give someone a carefully crafted give from nature - it starts with the seeds and the soil to grow a truly therapeutic herb.

Welcome to the world of handcrafted artisan skin care and Lily's approach to skin care. This does not include mass-produced, out-sourced, inexpensive chemical formulas that make up most facial care lines.

So why during the season of giving would you buy your loved ones the mass produced skin care opposed to a unique handpicked and made organically grown produced right from Colorado.

It has taken Lily Organics nearly 30 years spent in research and development, in the lab, at the library, on the farm and traveling to over 80 countries studying other countries plants and products to craft the most holistic healing therapeutic line of skin care products in the world.

Much like a mad scientist, Lily locked herself in her lab on the farm and toiled with thousands of trails and testing to get her product to absolute perfection. Lily was determined to come up with a natural remedy for all of her skin care problems.

Lily says there was a huge motivator behind her skin care line, "Fear. Fear of bad skin, fear of failure, fear of never looking good." She adds, "What we do and how we do it is insane. The ingredients are impeccable and the synergistic blends are amazing. It is an art to put together all the right elements to create organic skin care that is not only a pampering experience, but really changes the molecular structure of the skin." Only pure botanicals can have that kind of gentle impact on the skin. It heals, moisturizes and improves the skin's life force while making us feel beautiful.

It may appear crazy, brilliant or both, to make a pure hand crafted product fresh to order every week. No other skin care company on the planet offers a product like Lily Organics nor is it made in the same way. "Growing our own ingredients on our own certified organic farm and then making everything fresh to order creates products that have a life force. It is worth all the hard work to create such a fresh and pure product unique on planet earth."

The Seaweed Cleanser is an early morning aromatic delight that awakens all the senses to a new day. The Balancing Facial Toner tingles and dances on your skin while removing any unwanted debris. The beautiful and light scent of ylang ylang in the lotion is as wondrous as it is moisturizing. The Organic Moisture Mist is like a trip to the rain forest, even during the cold winter months. To say the least, Lily Organics products are an experience in aromatherapy. In the Rejuvenating Enzyme Mask, Lily Organics brings together local honey which acts as humectants, Lily which is an anti-inflammatory, mint which stimulates the cells and comfrey which creates collagen and helps the skin reknit itself. The Comfrey and mint, like most of Lily's ingredients are grown with love and care on her certified organic farm. There is real quality and value in creating skin care products that are grown and mixed, made and shipped all in the same day. Experience only gained after growing up as a 7th generation American grower.

Lily combines modern needs of a women and their desire to be beautiful, eco-friendly and green with the most traditional techniques of organic growing. Each product honors ancient methods and brings exquisite new creams to everyone, green thumbs and all. These products are great year round but make great stocking stuffers and are a unique way to show your loved ones you care. Even if a present for yourself, they are a great skin aid during the harsher winter months when people tend to forget about the health of their skin. For this holiday season Lily is offering gift bags for $18.50 that include travels sizes of the lotion, mist and cleanser.

Lily Organics is leaps and bounds better than all other synthetic skin care products that try to mock the real thing. Lily provides the real deal making the origin of each product known. What makes Lily Organics superior is simply that Mother Nature provides us with the best cure for Father Time and nature rarely lies.
