

Lily Organics strives for
USDA Certified Organic
Status!

While I am used to undergoing the process for the USDA certified organic status for the farm, this year we are also going for the lab to be certified organic and our first product, the Kukui Oil Facial Oil. We are so excited.

When we receive these certifications, we will be the first facial care product with the USDA status in Whole Foods and Vitamin Cottage in this region!! (I cannot speak to the other regions). It is such my privilege to be an organic grower, make the finest skin care products on planet Earth and be the steward of this land. Thank you! ~Lily
